

“I Voted!” Sticker Contest Submissions

Grades 6-8

Charlisa Penzak

Description: The inspiration for this piece was from an image that depicted women holding a sign that reads "Votes for Women". My piece engenders this sentiment and includes the modern theme of diversity, by including women of different races and religions to show that all women deserve the right to vote.

Karina Morfin-Munoz

Description: 100 years ago women were standing together to get voting rights. Now, women are still standing together and delivering important achievements for our society. I'm trying to symbolize these women standing together in the colors red, white and blue, because these women made America an inclusive and better place.

Morgan McKimmy

Description: I looked into different women's suffrage symbols, and found the yellow rose, so I chose to use that symbol. I also drew a picture of a sign, because of protest signs. From there I included 1920-2020, and a suffrage slogan.

Valeria Jurado

Description: I wanted to show that women fought for the vote because they loved this country even though it was denying them the right. One flag looks backward to history to understand the past that impacts us today and the other looks forward to dream of the future.

Mariah Cobb

Description: My drawing celebrates the 100th anniversary of the 19th amendment of the United States (women's right to vote). My artwork portrays courageous femininity and shows the liberation women gained through equality protests. The horn and muscle represent strength and the flowers represent opportunity for future generations.

Ava Tarach

Description: I used purple, white and green to show the original woman suffrage colors and the sign is a 100 to show the 100 year anniversary of the woman's suffrage vote. The crowd in the foreground the countless protests done for women's rights. Lastly the background is the 19th amendment itself.
