

You Can Still Take Advantage of Trade Adjustment Assistance Benefits

Were you laid off in the past and your employer or Michigan Works! said you were eligible for Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) benefits? If so, you may still qualify for training support and other services.

The TAA program provides workers with tuition assistance to earn a college degree or certification, as well as other financial assistance to offset the cost of a job search or relocation or, for those who are eligible, extended unemployment insurance benefits.

To learn more about TAA benefits, contact your nearest Oakland County Michigan Works! center (see back), or visit OakGov.com/TAA. There, you will find a list of certified employers impacted by foreign trade who were forced to lay off employees. See if you qualify!

“ TAA was a blessing for me to get my life back. I am now a licensed nurse and don't have to struggle working factory jobs. It doesn't matter what age you are. If you have a dream and want to go back to school, try TAA. They will help you with whatever you need. ”
